

Raju Singh

Raju was born with normal sight, developed low vision at the age of five years. He continues to have low, educated in a blind school and completed diploma in computer science. Presently he is a computer instructor in the same blind school where he studied

While going around the place I can feel the change of temperature. It suggested the contract of light and I wanted to capture light within darkness

As the ambiance of place and movement of the man was described to me I was very luck to capture more than what I wanted

Raju

Mahesh playing sitar

I get very close to objects to see it 'somewhat' clearly, my low vision make the normal sighted people see the abstractness they wouldn't see otherwise

Raju